

ABSTRACT

A system and method which seeks out and identifies internet sites offering unauthorized downloading of copyrighted material, which makes multiple requests for the offerings from the identified sites to make it difficult or impossible for those seeking such 5 illegal material to access the site, and which creates a number of internet sites which appear to offer the same copyrighted work to act as "red herrings" for a potential copyright infringer.